shopping districts

The Township at Colony Park

1107 Highland Colony Pkwy
thetownship.com/t

A planned masterpiece that mixes shops, restaurants, hotels, and residential neighborhoods into New Urbanist style. Discover shopping, dining, nightlife, beauty, and well-being in this one-of-a-kind environment.

Renaissance at Colony Park

1000 Highland Colony Pkwy
renaissanceatcolonypark.com

Immersed in an entirely unique and timeless world in this stylish district that sets architectural artistry against luxuriant landscaping with an inviting village center. An unrivaled venue for shopping, dining, and entertainment, Renaissance is home to local boutiques, specialty stores and renowned national stores.

Railroad District

Jackson St off I-55
 Exit 105 B East

Relax and step back to a time when “downtown” meant wonderfully walkable charm, friendly shops and inviting ease. As befits an old-fashioned experience, your options here are pleasantly (and conveniently) eclectic: fashion, jewelry, beauty and spa services, gift shops, and sporting goods.

Highway 51 + Trace Station + Oak Place

Highway 51 N

Call it the perfect intersection of classic and creative. Bob Dylan memorialized Highway 51 in song; today shoppers sing the praises of the historic highway for retail choices ranging from antiques to arts, fashion to florists.

Northpark + County Line Road

1200 E Country Line Rd
visitnorthpark.com

Mississippi’s premier indoor shopping destination is home to more than 120 in-demand stores. In addition, Northpark is an epicenter of entertainment and events. It also features a food court with everything from American to Asian dining choices.

Old Canton Road + Lake Harbour Road

If you’re hunting for a quick bite to eat, or hoping to get lost in various shopping centers (each with a unique flair), then you’ll find it easy to get lost in the offerings surrounding Old Canton Road + Lake Harbour Road.

arts

It's no secret that Mississippi is known as a hub of the arts, culture and creativity... and Ridgeland certainly lives up to that reputation. Fine art? Quirky sculpture? One-of-a-kind crafts? We've got it. Whether you're strolling through an arts festival or getting lost in crafting classes, you'll immerse yourself in our vibrant culture and be inspired.

Bill Waller Craft Center

Natchez Trace Pkwy
950 Rice Rd
601-856-7546
mscrafts.org

The Craft Center displays the artwork of more than 400 artisans. These fine Southern crafts include vivid Choctaw baskets and pottery, old-fashioned quilts, carvings in natural wood and an eclectic array of jewelry. This unique attraction serves as an information center as well as the site of craft classes and demonstrations.

Jackson Street Gallery

637 Highway 51
601-790-7001
[facebook.com/
jacksonstgallery](https://facebook.com/jacksonstgallery)

The Jackson Street Art Gallery is filled with beautiful paintings and works of art by Mississippi artists.

Fischer Galleries

118 W Jackson St
601-291-9115
fischergalleries.com

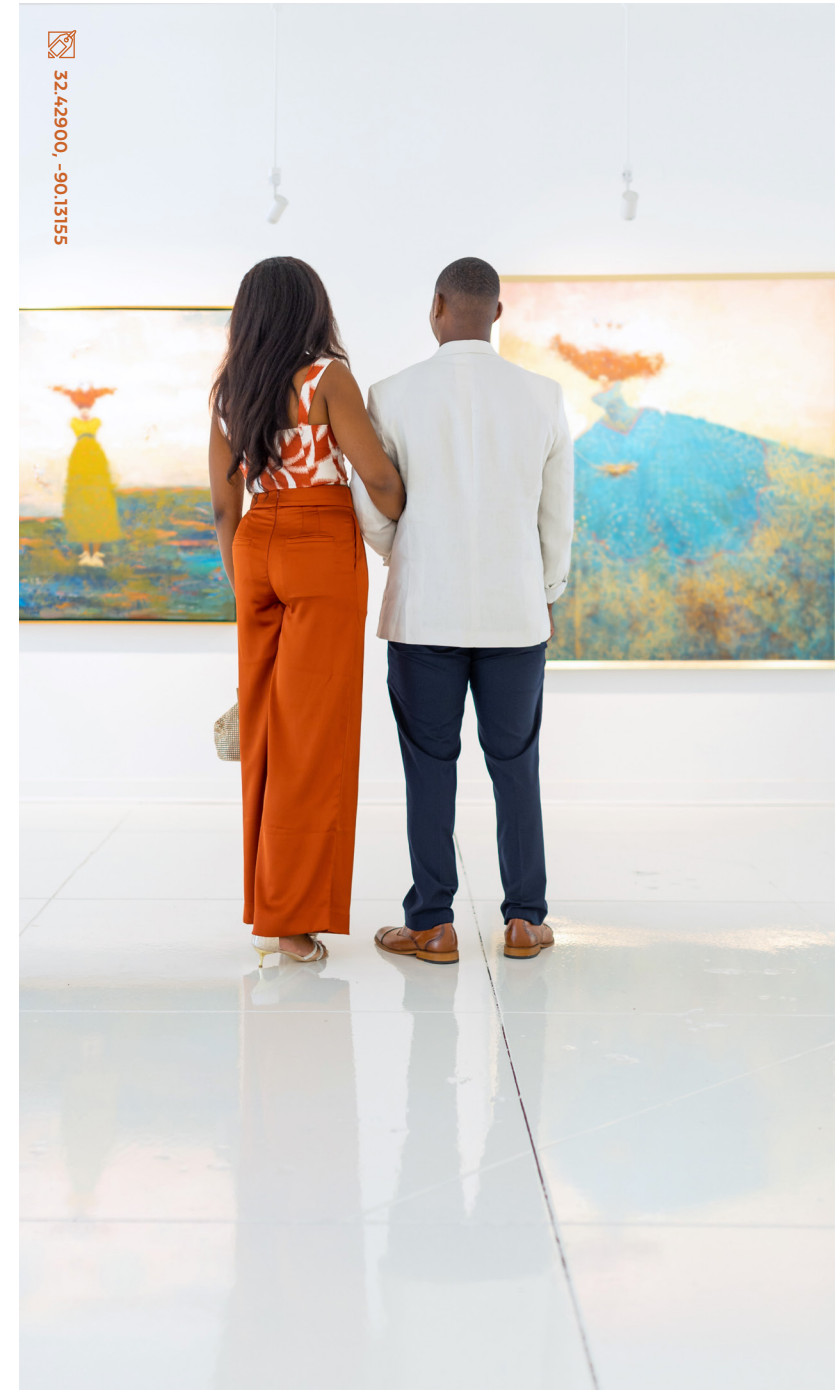

Fischer Galleries is a contemporary fine art gallery specializing in original works by local, regional, established, and emerging artists.

Chimneyville Arts Festival

mscrafts.org

A holiday tradition for over 40 years featuring the region's finest artisans just in time for holiday gift giving. This event is presented by the Craftsmen's Guild of Mississippi at the Bill Waller Craft Center.

stay

Clearly, Ridgeland is charming. But there's something else here too: an undeniable vitality that makes it difficult to sit still. You'll find yourself up with the sun, ready to explore the array of indoor and outdoor activities and attractions. Somehow, all that exploration is even better knowing that Southern hospitality, fine food and crisp sheets await at the end of the day!
