The historic district, rich in character and charm, features beautifully preserved buildings that tell the story of the city's past while housing an array of contemporary shops, restaurants, and cultural attractions. Stroll down the picturesque streets and explore local shops offering everything from antiques, home furnishings, and handcrafted goods to trendy fashion, new or consigned and for all ages, sizes, and budgets.

Food lovers will delight in the variety of locally owned dining options available, which includes Greek, Italian, Mexican, Asian, barbeque, Cajun-inspired, seafood, and of course, delicious Southern cuisine.

The downtown area is also a hub for local events and festivals, where you can experience the vibrant community spirit of Villa Rica from farmers markets to live music performances. Villa Rica's 2,500-capacity "green space" amphitheater is where concerts, festivals, classic car and comedy shows, and numerous annual events are scheduled year-round. In downtown Villa Rica, The MILL Amphitheater puts visitors within easy walking distance of shopping and dining favorites. And everyone is invited to bring blankets and chairs to the MILL Amphitheater for free evenings of toe-tapping music by local and regional bands in June, July, and August as we groove to summer concerts representing a variety of musical genres—pop, funk, rock, and country.
